Economic survey outlines the progressive and growth-oriented vision of the government for Viksit Bharat: AEPC

31st January 2025; New Delhi/ Gurugram: Commenting on the Economic Survey presented by the Finance Minister Smt. Nirmala Sitharaman today, Shri Sudhir Sekhri Chairman AEPC, stated that, "This year's survey is progressive, forward-looking and growth- oriented. The Economic Survey has also listed the nation's challenges and provides a roadmap for reforms and growth. The industry looks forward to progressive reforms and continuity in policy, reflecting stability and trust."

Shri Mithileshwar Thakur, Secretary General AEPC, stated, "The Government's commitment to make India a developed nation is reflected in the economic survey. This year's survey has provided a data driven comprehensive overview of the country's economic health and current economic situation and the roadmap for the future. The insights published in the economic survey will surely help the policy makers in framing inclusive policies for our country."
